Cecil means blind, well mannered, proud, careful, lacks imagination, Ross means rose, dweller on the promontory or peninsula; bluff or cliff overlooking a lowland, woody meadow. I keep getting the impression Cecil was blind at one time, but now he sees. He's standing on the bluff, overlooking the "woody meadow", the valley of the shadow of death. But he will fear no evil for the Lord is with him and his eyes are opened and because of his position on the cliff he can see beyond the valley of the shadow of death because Jesus has overcome the grave. His eyes are far more open than ours to the kingdom of life beyond.

Ps 23

Dear Daughter, My delight is in you. When I look at you I smile. Your vigor for life is infectious, your oblivion to desire the affections of people is so pleasing to me. I see you run after me as a child through a field of daisies, “Oh, look at this one, no look at that one!” You are able to see the pleasures of life and yet you don’t look to them for your strength, you look to me, and that delights my heart. I love you,
